Speaking Topics

Leadership of Change® - Change Leadership Alignment

Change capability starts with the leadership team. The leadership team needs to understand previous change history and the barriers to success so they align strategically as a high performing team, and develop the skills and knowledge to successfully deliver future organisational change.

Leadership of Change® - 10 Change Management Lessons Learned

Peter has worked in over 25 countries over the last 30 years. From his global experience, he shares ten key lessons learned from organisations when they were implementing organisation change.

Leadership of Change® - Change Management Gamification Benefits

Change management gamification is the new trend which helps to engage your employees by using gaming methods. Peter uses gamification so that leaders and employees can learn, test and prepare for organisational change.

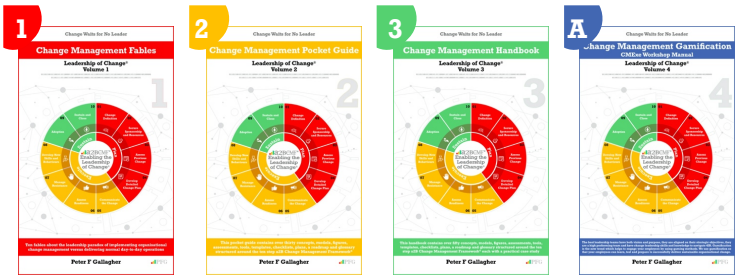
Bio

Peter speaks on the Leadership of Change®, change management, change leadership alignment and the benefits of change management gamification.

As a speaker, Peter has presented strategic transformations leading practice to Government entities, CEO audiences globally, leadership teams and professional membership conferences. For over 30 years, Peter has been helping organisations, leaders and employees change, improve and transform through keynotes, masterclasses, change management gamification workshops, projects and programmes. He has led large change management communications events (200+ employees) and developed change concepts, assessments, frameworks, models and tools.

Peter is the author of four change management books:



The change question set Peter asks all leaders is:

"Do you have a change vision? Are you aligned on your strategic objectives? Are you a high performing team? Does your team have change leadership skills to lead the change or improvement that your organisation is facing?"

He then works with the leadership team to develop a solution.
